

1 CORINTHIANS 7:1-40

Keep Station

GETTING STARTED

What's your favorite romance story? Why is it your favorite?

God cares about our romantic relationships—whether we're married, single, divorced, or widowed. This session will walk through principles about how Christians should navigate romantic relationships.

We want to:

- Know what it means to be selfless in the context of our romantic relationships.
- Feel excited about God's purpose for relationships and the future hope we have in Jesus's return.
- Look for ways to put other people first, regardless of our relationship status.

DISCUSS

What life stage are you in right now? What's best about it? What are some difficulties?

What's Paul's main message about our various life stages? After Jennie's teaching and reading 1 Corinthians 7, what do you think it means to "keep station"?

What does contentment look like for you? What helps you find that contentment even in difficult situations?

Think about the way you treat the significant people in your life. What do you think your actions towards them say to other people about your faith?

What's one thing you could do to selflessly serve a significant person in your life this week?

CONCLUDE

The way we treat each other and the way we act in our life stage reflects back on Christ. We can choose to be selfless, as Jesus was with us.
